

The EEOC Offers New Guidance Regarding Vaccines in the Workplace

The EEOC has been offering continuing guidance about discrimination laws in the workplace and how they relate to the current pandemic.

Yesterday, they updated their frequently asked questions to include a section on the new vaccine and requiring vaccinations.

Click on this link for more information and to read the frequently asked questions and response from the EEOC.

If you have questions or concerns regarding your employment, contact Sheree Donath at 516-804-0274 or sheree@donathlaw.com to find out your rights and options.

(Attorney Advertising)